

Femininity and Psychoanalysis: Cinema, Culture, Theory – Book Launch
26 September 2019, Freud Museum, London
Psychoanalysis and Film SIG

Members of the Psychoanalysis and Film SIG, along with other academics, artists and psychoanalysts met at the Freud Museum in London to celebrate the publication of Femininity and Psychoanalysis: Cinema, Culture, Theory (Routledge, 2019), a collection edited by Dr Agnieszka Piotrowska (Bedfordshire) and Dr Ben Tyrer (Middlesex, SIG co-convenor) and featuring a number of SIG members such as Prof. Caroline Bainbridge and Dr Davina Quinlivan.

Speeches were made by the book's editors, as well as contributor and SIG member Dr Allister McTaggart (Chesterfield). This was followed by a presentation from Prof. Elizabeth Cowie (book contributor and SIG member) on the general topic of the collection, femininity and film, and on the main contributions of each of the chapters in the collection.

BAFTSS generously contributed £250 towards venue hire for the event, and the Psychoanalysis in Our Time research network provided a wine reception and canapes for guests.
